ASSEMBLY MAY BE RECALLED TO PASS TAXING MEASURE

Solons to Quit Today After Longest Session In History.

CLOCKS STOPPED AT MIDNIGHT WEDNESDAY SESSION GOES ON

Many Bills Passed During Closing Hours of Legislature.

Columbus, Feb. 5.—The Ohio legislature was winding up the longest session ever held by any general assembly in the state today with the prospect of being recalled in special session by Governor Cox to complete its unfinished taxation program.

The assembly gave up hope of enacting a state income tax law or other form of permanent taxation relief last night and decided to adjourn sine die when the clock struck 12 Wednesday midnight. The clocks of both houses were stopped at that hour and today's session was merely a continuation of yesterday's legislative day.

A new bill was introduced and passed in the senate today to increase the salary of the state superintendent of public instruction from $4,000 to $7,500 a year. Governor Cox requests this increase in order to enable him to appoint a high grade man as head of the department of public instruction when the term of F. B. Pearson expires February 15.

A great first of bills passed the closing hours of the session were being prepared today to be presented to Governor Cox for his approval.

Governor Cox was in Indianapolis today addressing a meeting of Indiana newspaper men and no expression was obtainable from his office as to whether he intends recalling the solons to enact taxation legislation.

The decision to adjourn sine die came after all hope of passing a permanent taxation measure had been abandoned. Senator Whittemore, majority leader of the upper branch held out until the last for a recent until some time in April in order to give the committee on administrative reorganization time to make important changes in state government.

Failure to enact an income tax law or other permanent taxation measure may result in Governor Cox calling the legislature back in special session. Leaders say they would not be recalled if the governor would recall them. If he does he will outline the program for them.

The temporary relief measure for cities, authorizing them to issue deficiency bonds for 1920 operating deficits became a law today by receiving the approval of the government but the Gardner bill, increasing interest and sinking fund charges to be levied outside the Smith one per cent law on a vote of the people was still awaiting executive action. If the governor vetoes this measure it will be dead.

Last night's session of the house was marked by a near fist fight between Representative Joseph Lustig of Cleveland and Representative John W. Gorrell, a minister of Carroll county, during a debate over a resolution to appoint a committee to escort the bodies of Ohio soldiers who died in France from the port of embarkation to their homes. Lustig charged Gorrell with using insulting language toward him and was advancing toward Gorrell when fellow representatives separated them. Representative Matthews, Scioto county, put a quibus on the scrap by pleading with (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

DR. MORGAN IS HEALTH OFFICER

New Board Makes Provisional Appointment for 90 Days—Other Officials Get Temporary Appointments.

Dr. W. H. Morgan of Hudson avenue was given a provisional temporary appointment of health officer of the city for ninety days at a meeting of the new board of health held last evening at the office of Mayor H. A. Atherton, who by virtue of his office is president of the board. Other members present were Dr. S. C. Priest, Charles O'Bannon, Dr. A. E. Best, A. L. Thomas and Robert A. Crawford.

The salary of the health officer was placed at $1,500 per year, it only requiring a part of the time of that official in caring for the duties of the office. Dr. Morgan at the request of the American army served two years with the British troops during the war and was connected with the health department of Columbus for a period of five years under the administration of Dr. Kahn. He will have his office in Hudson avenue. There were three other applicants for the position.

There were two eligibles under the civil service regulations for the position of sanitary policeman. Jesse Baldwin and Samuel Brown. The latter was given a provisional appointment of ninety days, at the end of which time if he has given satisfaction he will be tendered a permanent appointment. The office pays $105 per month the first year and $110 per month each year thereafter.

There were also two eligibles for the position of food and meat inspector. H. G. Mitchell and Harry Wilson. The latter was given a provisional appointment of 90 days under the same conditions. The pay of the official is the same as sanitary policeman. Members of the health board stated last night that it was their desire to have efficiency in each department and that all health rules and regulations were rigidly carried out. Meetings will be public and will be held in the council chamber.

MAY BUY 1920 AUTO TAGS BEGINNING TODAY

Columbus, Feb. 5.—Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith last night announced that, beginning today 1920 automobile license tags will be sold under the new graduated license law.

The step is taken at the instance of owners of automobiles driving them into adjacent states and into Canada, where objections have been made to the 1919 license tags on Ohio machines. Authorities there have insisted that the 1919 tags had a bad moral effect on their own administration of automobile license laws.

Secretary Smith said that all purchasers of tags would take chances on obtaining a refund of the excess payment in case the new law, now under review by the Franklin County court of appeals, finally were held to be unconstitutional by the supreme court.

It was made plain that the Ohio owners of motor cars would not be prosecuted in this state for having driven cars with 1919 tags. If the act were declared to be unconstitutional, the general assembly would have to make refunders alter, as the money must be paid into the state treasury.

KILL EFFORT TO CURB DEBATE ON PEACE TREATY

Question of Cloture Rule Is Sent to Committee To Die.

OFFICIALS DENY WILSON KNEW OF GREY'S LETTERS

English Envoy Approves of Lodge Reservation On Treaty.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The move to put a new cloture provision into the senate rules in time to curb debate on the peace treaty next week flattened out today when the rules committee referred the whole question of cloture to a subcommittee which will not meet for several days.

Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, also heads the subcommittee. The other members are Senators McCormick, Illinois, and Moses, New Hampshire, Republicans, and Smith, Georgia, and Harrison, Mississippi, Democrats. Various resolutions and reports that President Wilson might have known in advance of the contents of Viscount Grey's recent letter on the status of the peace treaty were met by administration officials today with the statement that while they did not care to assume the position of denying them, there was no foundation in fact for such conclusions. There were indications that the government here rather was inclined to feel that the president should have been advised of Viscount Grey's expression before they were published.

White House officials say that the president all during his illness has been receiving communications in writing and that diplomats were not prevented from intercourse with him although it might not be a personal one. Viscount Grey, writing as a private citizen, expressed approval of the Lodge reservations and reminded the British public that membership in the League of Nations was a wide departure from the prior policy of the American government.

Secretary Lansing said published reports that the American government had sent a letter of protest to the British government regarding the Grey letter were without the slightest foundation. He added that he had not even discussed the matter with White House officials.

Circuit Judge Charles Kerr today asked for troops to protect him. Lockett is still in state prison for protection from the mob. Two hundred troops will guard him.

Frankfort, Feb. 5.—Prompt and decisive action by Governor Edward P. Morrow and the coolness of Sheriff Bain Moore, of Franklin county, averted a serious trouble at the state reformatory guards, deputy sheriff and policemen, and several hundred farmers who came here bent upon lynching William Lockett, negro confessed murderer of little Geneva Hardman. South Elkhorn school girl. Following the appeal of the sheriff and a warning that they were going "into a death trap," the mob dispersed at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Notified that a mob formed at Lexington was enroute to this city, Lockett who was brought here for safe keeping yesterday afternoon, Governor Morrow hastened to the reformatory and took charge. Guards and other defenders were assembled within the walls and Sheriff Moore determined to meet the mob the members of which were coming from surrounding counties in automobiles.

As the long string of cars ascended the hill to the prison the procession was halted when a machine gun was stopped at right angles across the road, in accordance with instructions from the sheriff who then appealed to the men to disperse and let the law take its course, and gave his word of warning. A few of the men descended from the automobile and started toward the prison, but they were turned back or placed under arrest and no trouble of consequence resulted.

When first heard, peaceful householders hurried to door or window to see if there were a fire or a riot, but have grown accustomed to the recurring sounds of woe.

Port Clinton, Feb. 5.—Herman Goings, aged 76, pioneer fruit grower, is dead from pneumonia.

OIL EXCITEMENT AT REYNOLDSBURG IS RUNNING HIGH

New Well in Wildcat Territory Shows 200 feet of Oil in Casing—Operation Shrouded in Secrecy.

The splendid showing of oil in the test well drilled on the Andrew Stemen farm near Reynoldsburg in wild cat territory has thrown the "oil stampede" into that territory.

Operating under the name of the Community Oil company whose stockholders live in the territory near well, the company engaged R. H. Perry of Lancaster to drill the well. It is now 220 feet and the oil is showing up in the casing. Estimates place the oil in the well at 200 feet, but it has not been shot. The company is giving out no information as to when it will be shot, saying the drillers are short on material.

It is claimed that a number of leases have already been taken up by other oil companies. The neighborhood is greatly excited over the find and the news has spread rapidly. It could not be learned how large a lease holding the Community company has.

In connection with the excitement the following story is told:

The excitement in the neighborhood has not been without its amusing side. Sunday night a group of laborers working on a road near Pickerington became excited about the "boom," procured four pounds of dynamite, placed it in a field near the village, attached a fuse to it, lighted the fuse and drove away in an automobile. A few minutes later the dynamite let go and hobses in the village came very near being upended, but the dynamite failed to disclose any surface oil.

The well is located four miles south of Reynoldsburg and about a mile and a half west of Pickerington. It is just over the line in Fairfield county.

GET SMALL FLOW.

The Ohio Closes Gas company after failing to get oil in the Clinton rock, drilled deeper and shot the F. M. Walser well No. 1 in Bowling Green township. The well was good for a barrel and a half of high grade oil. It is not known whether it will be abandoned or not.

them not to fight over a matter which to him was nothing more than a "funeral procession," he said.

Matthews' son died in the service of his country. Lustig apologized to Matthews.

Both houses enacted more legislation during the closing hours than they have in any one week in the past. Among the bills passed were the following:

Increasing salaries of state employees receiving less than $2,400 a year, $20 a month.

Increasing salaries of judges of the supreme court from $5,500 to $6,000 and the salary of the chief justice from $7,000 to $9,000, and increasing appellate court judges salaries from $5,000 to $5,500.

Increasing fee of wholesale dealers in cigarettes from $30 to $200 a year and retailers from $15 to $50.

Increasing registration fee of pharmacists from $3 to $5 a year.

Taxing commercial motor trucks as public utilities.

Bills to tax mineral production and retail druggists were not passed.

The legislature made possible the carrying out of the program for a new $700,000 stadium, seating 50,000 people at Ohio State University athletic field when it passed the appropriation bill late last night to build a new bridge over the Olentangy river at the athletic field.

Representative Reynolds of Cuyahoga introduced a proposed amendment to the constitution which was adopted by the house, giving women the right to act as notaries.

Appointments of Thaddeus H. Brown, Republican, of Columbus as a member of the state civil service commission and John R. Cassidy, Democrat, of Bellefontaine as member of the state tax commission were confirmed by the senate early today.

The senate did not act on numerous other appointments, including that of Daniel J. Ryan as member of the state tax commission, J. W. Bond as state superintendent of banks, A. R. Laylor, state highway commissioner, Dr. Reinert and James A. Reynolds, members of the board of administration and George Ewing Deane, Democrat, of the civil service commission.

Failure to confirm is said to be equivalent to rejection.

The only other appointments confirmed were those of William Johnson, Cincinnati and Sully James, Springfield as members of the board of trustees of Wilberforce University.

The Luchsinger bill authorizing two platoon systems in city fire departments passed both houses yesterday.

The Green bill authorizing municipalities to harvest and store ice was defeated in the senate. The Brach municipal ownership bill was reported out for passage by the committee on cities.

The senate steering committee refused to place the bill on the calendar. Its advocates had practically given up hope of its passage.

Freeman, who was last heard from in Chicago several days ago is known in Toledo and Cleveland.

One of the number was Ben O'Sickey, who won the class B 220-yard event in 24 seconds. Grieser paced O'Sickey when the latter was a boy of 14 for the world mark for 14-year-old skaters. Among other well known skaters mentioned was Hoernig, with whom Grieser raced several years ago.

MAYOR URGES NEWARK PEOPLE TO DO "GOOD TURN DAILY" NEXT WEEK

Asks Citizens to Assist Boy Scouts In Observing Anniversary Week—Scout Movement Accomplishes Much In First Ten Years of Extension.

A million boys trained in citizenship and service, a billion good turns, a preparedness that has proven its ability to effectively serve in war and peace—these are some of the results of the first decade of the character building service of the Boy Scouts of America, whose tenth anniversary will be celebrated throughout the nation the week of February 8th to 14th.

Founded February 4, 1910, and granted federal incorporation by act of congress June 15, 1916, the growth of the Boy Scout movement in America has been phenomenal, and scouting's tenth birthday finds 75,000 boys and 9,000 adult leaders actively enrolled in its program of service to the nation and its boyhood.

A feature of the tenth birthday celebration of the scout movement in a national campaign in which through some central every man, woman and child in the United States is being urged to adopt for scout anniversary week the Boy Scout habit of doing a good turn to someone each day.

To carry out this plan locally, Mayor H. A. Atherton yesterday issued a proclamation urging all Newark people to join the movement to do a good turn each day next week. The mayor's proclamation follows:

"The Boy Scouts of America is just now completing the first decade of its noteworthy history as an organization devoted to the welfare of boys and the making of good citizens.

"It behooves us both as individuals and as a community to aid, encourage and support by every means within our power an organization which has such splendid record of progress and service as the Boy Scouts of America has to show for the ten years of its existence.

"It is fitting that we at this time give due recognition to this great organization.

"Therefore, I, H. A. Atherton, as mayor of Newark, do hereby recommend the period making the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scout movement, February 8 to 14, be observed in this city as 'Good Turn Week' and I strongly urge that every man, woman and child in the community for that period at least adopt the Boy Scout habit of doing a good turn to someone each day."

Outstanding among accomplishments of the ten years' history of the scout movement is its remarkable growth among churches of all denominations, it being the first program to receive universal support among all religious groups. Church organizations representing more than 35,000,000 people have formally adopted the scouting program and are developing plans for its extensive use. The scout program is rapidly increasing in the use among public schools throughout America as a post-classroom activity.

Since its inception, the Boy Scouts of America has had its motto "Be Prepared," and every citizen is trained day after day in a practical readiness for emergencies. The record of the national court of honor contain the stories of hundreds of scouts who have risked their lives to save life and limb. Perhaps the army in France had 10,000 men whose training as scouts in the mastery of the outdoors made them more valuable as fighters. Through ten years of practical service the Boy Scouts of America have been recognized as valuable allies of police and fire departments, the Red Cross and every other emergency meeting agency.

What most impressed the citizenship of the nation with the value and strength of the Boy Scouts of America was the enviable record made by scouts in every war activity in which they were asked to participate. Acting as gleemen in the five liberty loan campaigns, 2,343,497 subscriptions amounting to $144,180,687 were secured by scouts, while more than $50,000,000 worth of war savings stamps were sold as a result of scout efforts. Secret service work of tremendous value, locating of millions of feet of standing black walnut for gun stocks and airplane propellers, collection of hundreds of carloads of fruit pits and nut shells for gas masks, the distribution of 50,000,000 pieces of literature to arouse patriotism, and definite help to the Red Cross, are typical of the sort of service rendered effectively by Boy Scouts throughout America which led the late Colonel Roosevelt, honorary vice president of the Boy Scouts of America and chief scout citizen, to express the sentiment of the nation by saying: "Boy Scouts, you have made Uncle Sam's team."

Throughout the United States plans are being devised by local scout leaders for vast extension of scouting into new fields as a greater proposition of the boys of America will be reached.

and every indication is that the second decade of its service to the nation and its boyhood is entered upon, the Boy Scouts of America will be a constantly increasing factor in building 100 per cent Americanism into the United States of tomorrow.

SLEPT AMONG THE DEPARTED

Travelers in Auto Unknowingly Selected Peculiar Place in Which to Pass the Night.

They lived in Milwaukee and "diverged" through to Indianapolis with their two children. They left home early in the morning, arriving at Gary just before dark. Axious to reach their destination as soon as possible, they left Gary after getting a supply of gasoline.

A few miles out of Gary a heavy rainstorm checked their progress and shrouded the countryside in pitch darkness. Losing their way they decided to turn in at the first gate and spend the rest of the night in the automobile, rather than take chances of traveling by night in the darkness on unknown roads.

A few miles further on the outline of a tree just beyond an open gate was seen, and the auto was guided beneath. The couple and children slept in cramped quarters in the auto and awakened at daybreak next morning. Imagine their horror when they discovered they had slept all night in their auto in a cemetery.—Indianapolis News.

Too Beautiful.

A man and his wife went to one of the most beautiful islands in the Caribbean sea seven years ago to spend the twilight of their lives in the serene beauty of the tropics. It was a place which the husband, a seafaring man, had chosen as the nearest approach to terrestrial paradise for those who have enough money to live without working hard.

The couple landed in New York the other day with their laces and penates and a parrot. The ideal season is just about to begin in the Caribbean, but it will start and continue without this particular pair of humans. "We want an old-fashioned New England winter," said the wife. The husband was more specific. "It was great for a while, but finally it got too doblanted beautiful. We are going back to Connecticut to see some rocks and barren fields."—New York Sun.

Grain Grading School.

In Portland, Ore., a new kind of school has been started which has no truancy officer, gives no degrees and is attended by young and old—college graduates as well as some who didn't go through high school. It's not a large school—only 36 at last reports, who meet once a week for an intensive course in grain grading, because they are interested in grading grain under federal standards, administered by the United States department of agriculture. The school is held once a week outside of business hours in the office of the federal grain supervisor. Among the students are grain dealers, dock superintendents and foremen, and state grain men.

Over in Siberia a staff of Y. W. C. A. workers are slowly but surely making headway in organizing an association and in interesting girls in the various activities planned for their benefit. Overcoming the mountains of difficulties which arise from the abnormal educational and social situation in Vladivostok has been a problem to be approached slowly and with eyes open.

The workers report finding a few people interested in the things which have to do with girls and with whatever information they have gathered they are carefully developing their activities. There are sewing classes and one of the workers is conducting classes in spelling and letter writing.

Price-Fighter Congressman.

The report that Carpenter, the prize fighter, is ambitious to become a member of the French parliament, recalls the election of John Morrissey to congress in September 5, 1907, from the "Bloody Sixth" ward of New York city, says the Springfield Republican. Morrissey's famous fight, in which he defeated Herman, took place October 23, 1898, in the no-man's land adjoining Boston Corners in Berkshire county. After conceding to New York by Massachusetts. The pugilist had a long record of indictments for assault and burglary and had served nine months in the penitentiary for nine breaches of the peace. He served his district in congress satisfactorily enough to be re-elected.

FORTIFY YOUR- SELF AGAINST AN ATTACK OF 'FLU'

Persons in a Rundown, Half-Sick Condition Quick to Fall Victims to An Attack

The influenza epidemic which last year caused the death of approximately 500,000 of our best citizenship, and about which disease medical authorities acknowledge so little, is again becoming very prevalent in many sections of the country. Whilst the disease is of a much milder type than last year its death toll is appalling, and its victims in several of the large cities, make a formidable list.

The one safeguard against influenza is to fortify yourself against an attack by keeping yourself well, as far as you can, in good condition.

If you are in a weak, nervous, rundown debilitated condition you are liable to contract the influenza very readily. If on the other hand you are in good health you are more liable to become immune from an attack or at least be strong enough to resist it if you contract it.

The new herbal remedy Redex now being demonstrated at Brunner's Arcade Drug Store, is a specific remedy for persons in a rundown, nervous condition. Redex restores to all the organs the natural operations upon which health, strength and vitality must depend. By the use of Redex, indigestion, biliousness, flatulency, gastritis liver and kidney troubles, insomnia, constipation are invariably eradicated from the system.

The Redex expert is now at Brunner's Arcade Drug Store and will be glad to meet you and explain the merits of this new preparation.

THE OIL CRAZE.

Speculation in oil stocks has become one of the greatest crazes of American finance. Towns that have struck oil are jammed with a crazy crowd of fortune hunters. All over the country people who previously would scarcely dare put their hard earned dollars into a saving bank, now toss them into ventures that frankly advertise themselves as a gamble.

As usual the cream of this new wealth goes to the old hands at the game, who base their hazards on previous experience and good scientific advice.

The vast majority of those who buy from a distance, or without previous experience of knowledge of oil development, simply throw their money away. People in Newark who are tempted to gamble on this proposition, should realize that the chances are all against them.

In speaking of the scores of wildcat stocks that are being offered a well-known oil man said to the Advocate the other day that in his judgment the good offerings are not those that are heralded at points distant from the point of production. One always hears of the success of others but the failures are not recorded. If you buy oil stocks or "dabble in oil" be sure you are dealing with people or companies that will give you a square deal.

A NEWSPAPER MERGER.

A most interesting newspaper event was the announced union of the New York Sun and New York Herald, which some people might consider the two most famous papers in American journalism. The Sun was long the model of brilliant news writing. The Herald was equally superior in thorough collection of news and intelligent analysis of public affairs.

The building up of newspapers at taining such fame is a great human achievement. Such papers are not merely models of journalistic style, but an incentive to every newspaper man's ambition, to do his best in his own smaller field. A man does not have to work on a metropolitan journal to get out a famous sheet, and many a paper produced by small cities and towns is well known in the sky parlors of the metropolitan press.

The lease of the Herald building—the famous Herald square in New York—expires about fifteen months from date. It is said that before that time the Herald plant will be dismantled and the paper will be issued from the Sun office.

ONE SHOULD WITHDRAW.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
Governor James M. Cox does not say he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, but when a newspaper as near his home as Hamilton declares he is "privileged to make" such an announcement and the governor does not take the trouble to deny it, only one conclusion is likely to be drawn.

Declining the nomination Hoover out of consideration, no name is offered mentioned in political gossiping circles in connection with the San Francisco convention that that of the Ohio governor. The governorship of the Buckeye State has been a favorite stepping stone to the presidency, and a governor as aggressive and well-known as Mr. Cox could not well avoid having his name mentioned in such times as these. There is no reason why we should try to keep friends from urging his nomination.

The heart of the Hamilton Journal's plea is contained in this paragraph: "There is perhaps no man in the country who has been able to make a better and more secure agreement from those who represent the divergence of thought and interest in industrial affairs. As it now appears that prosperity to which this country is entitled in the coming four years will be made possible only by bringing together the men who have the capital for industry

THE ADVOCATE'S DAILY EDITING

I have often wondered why a man when he embarks in the insurance business invariably attaches himself to a concern located in some far distant clime, and now that I am thinking of it, I will add that I have often wondered why the efficacy of patent medicines is so often testified to by the affidavits of people with strange names who reside in queer streets in obscure hamlets hundreds of miles distant from the place of publication—Eugene Field.

Did You Know?
That aluminum was discovered by Wohler in 1825? It was re-examined by him in 1846, when he obtained the metal in minute globules by heating a mixture of chloride of aluminum and sodium. In 1855 the French chemist Deville demonstrated that aluminum and those who by their labor keep the wheels of manufacture and distribution moving. Gov. Cox has demonstrated his ability to do this work.

If this is to be taken as a definite announcement of the governor's candidacy it precipitates a situation in the democratic politics of Ohio which may need good management to straighten out. Senator Pomeroy's possible candidacy has been discussed for weeks. It has been subject of no little publicity effort. A definite announcement from the senator himself has been promised for the new future.

Obviously, the governor and senator cannot both be favorite Democratic sons at San Francisco. One or the other must give way, or both will lose. Ohio Democrats hope to win the prize there should be unity, not divided allegiance. The issue between Mr. Cox and Mr. Pomeroy, if it is to be brought to an issue, ought to be settled at home and not carried outside for decision.

Ohio may be proud of the number of her sons available for high national service, as befits a mother of presidents. But sons contesting for the same might might defeat each other. The question between Gov. Cox and Senator Pomeroy should be settled by the withdrawal of one or the other in order that Ohio Democrats may then concentrate their efforts behind the man who remains in the race.

WOMEN IN PUBLIC OFFICE.
(Ohio State Journal)
Women now have the vote at municipal elections in Columbus and as duly qualified electors must in fairness be considered as eligible to appointment to city office. Recognizing this principle Mayor Thomas Monday appointed four women to positions of responsibility and potential usefulness. One was made a member of the city board of health, and a trustee of the public library, and two were appointed to the Franklin park commission. These places are all suited to the interests and special talents of women and we expect to see Mayor Thomas's appointees give a good account of themselves.

Leaving these special cases and considering the general question of women in public office, and before many years there will be many of them in city, state and nation, we trust the women so appointed will realize that they will be judged just as men are—by efficiency and results. They must expect no special favors because of their sex, which so far as possible ought to be obliterated during working hours, for at least after the working hours are over they will receive none. The world has staggered along on a different plan for a great many years and there are good reasons for some heartburnings while the adjustment is being made. Sex equality, as it is called, will prove to have its penalties as well as its blessings. But it is coming and we imagine women officeholders in general will prove themselves quickly responsive to changed conditions.

A THOUGHT FOR LINCOLN DAY

ABE LINCOLN, THE RAIL-SPLITTER, BECAME PRESIDENT

Married Strangers

A powerful story dealing with a problem being worked out in thousands of American homes to-day—that of the husband and wife who find they grow apart while the man was off to war.

By FRANCES DUVALL.

Copyright, 1919, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

LXIV.—A Clear Sky.

"I've spent the afternoon with Dad. He's been bully, too."

Bennett was lounging before the wood fire that was kindled each evening in Keitha's sitting room to take away the chill of the California twilight. His head was flung back against the cushions of the deep lounging chair and he blew a ring of smoke ceiling-ward, smiling reminiscently.

Keitha, curled up on a chaise longue opposite, absently watched the freight playing on his features. It threw into relief his strong clean chin and mouth and touched with a caressing light the dark hair that waved away from his temples.

The long length of him, as true in riding togs as in a uniform, was spread gratefully to the fire. It was awful that any one man should be so good looking, thought Keitha.

"Were you getting acquainted again?" asked Keitha.

"Getting acquainted for the first time, rather," he answered. "I never understood Dad before, nor he me. But it was my fault, I guess. Lord, I was a thoughtless chap before the war! I looked on Dad as a sort of fire-escape. If I got in jam, financial or other-wise, I knew Dad would be there to pull me out, and I was too selfish a cuss to be even grateful."

Bennett paused a moment, then continued slowly, when he threw me down, I acted like a fool. I forgot all he'd done and told him what I thought of a man who'd let his son go through hell. It wasn't very pretty, what I told him. I guess Dad's a thoroughbred to be able to overlook it now. But I'm sorry, God, how sorry I am!"

He blew a wreath of smoke toward the ceiling, watching it writhe and curl in the twilight gloom. Keitha remained silent, trying to piece together the hints of affairs which caused the rupture in the Bennett household. She was too proud to ask for that which would not be voluntarily vouchsafed.

"But it's all right now," said Bennett exhaling a deep breath. "We're pals again, Dad and I. I even believe I'm going to make him proud of me."

Keitha, he turned his face toward her suddenly, "would you be willing to remain here, or perhaps go to Hawaii for a part of the year, and not return east at all?"

Keitha smiled into the twilight. "Is that a significant question or merely an idle one?"

"What a rigid little conservative you are! You never even waste an answer, do you? Well, I'll tell you: the question is very significant. Dad is on—his beginning to feel his years occasionally and he is so impressed with my new-found self."

Bennett chuckled boyishly, "that he wants to turn over part of his financial interests to me. It would mean a great deal more to start than—Uncles brokerage ever would. And believe me, little Lester's new-found self isn't too noble to jump at a soft berth."

"But what about Hawaii?" asked Keitha with puckered brows.

"Large quantity of Dad's interests are located in sugar over there. He'd turn that all over to me and I'd have to keep a hand on the helm part of each year."

"It sounds very alluring," murmured Keitha, "I wouldn't want to interfere with your future in any way, but—" "Forget the usual objection, Keitha," he cut in impatiently. "Be a sport for once in your life."

Y. W. TO START DRIVE FOR FUND

Seeks Financial Aid to Put Over World Service Program for 1920.

Plans are under way to conduct a campaign here for funds for the Young Women's Christian association's world service program. Arrangements for the publicity campaign have been made and at the conclusion of that campaign the solicitation for funds will begin. No quota for Newark has been announced.

The Y. W. C. A. became well known during the war for its work of service but before that time it had representatives in India, Japan, China, Turkey and South America.

The association is ready to extend this work of helping women to the people of other lands. Repeated requests have come from many countries for the establishment of Y. W. C. A. centers as a result of the work done in France, and observed by diplomatic representatives of the nations of the world. Italy has cabled for help and plans are under way to establish the work in Rome. Rumania wants the work started there and Switzerland has asked that the work in that country be enlarged.

The association is preparing to send 100 specially trained women of Polish birth into Poland to take up service work in that country. Russia has nine Y. W. C. A. workers at Archangel, the only station open to Americans in Russia.

He is a graduate of Rush Medical college, Chicago, and has been in active practice for 14 years, most of the time at Evansville, Ind., where he was located at the time of entering the army. He is a specialist in obstetrics and diseases of children.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if two bottles of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges or rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Allenru relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it gets rid of uric acid in two days and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen the discoverer of Allenru who for many years suffered the torment of acute rheumatism desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers the worst of all diseases and he has instructed every drug store to guarantee it in every instance—Adv.

THE CALVACURA METHOD is a scientific, natural method, producing gratifying results.

Let the scalp breathe. It has a tendency to grow thick, coarse, and greasy. If the scalp is not kept clean, dry, and healthy, the hair will fall out, and the scalp will become itchy and inflamed. The Calvacura Method of Hair Culture stops the falling of hair, drives away dandruff, and restores the scalp to its natural healthy condition.

Let us prove to you by sending you a Sample Treatment and our illustrated book, "The Triumph of Science Over Baldness," that the Calvacura Method of Hair Culture stops the falling of hair, drives away dandruff, and restores the scalp to its natural healthy condition.

We will send a liberal sample of Calvacura No. 1 and our illustrated book on the care of the hair and scalp, if you will write your name and address plainly on a piece of paper, enclose it with ten cents, silver or gold, as evidence of your good faith, in an envelope addressed:

"Redhead."
Alice Brady, in the past, has been started in many a picture that has made a hit with the public, but it is doubtful if any of them can compare with "Redhead," her latest Select picture, which is seen today at the Alhambra theater.

The story is deeply interesting and impressive and gives you a same view of the chorus girl who is looked down upon by the world in general because she happens to be a member of the chorus. Alice Brady shows you the good heart, broad soul and clean mind of the little girl of the chorus who married a wealthy young good-for-nothing, when they were both under the influence of liquor. Ignoring his insults when he discovers that his allowance has been cut off because he has married this girl, Dazie, or "Redhead," as she was popularly called because of her Titan hair, bravely goes on loving and mothering the man she has taken "for better or for worse."

How his eyes are finally opened to the beautiful character of his wife and her wonderful and devoted attention to him is graphically told in the closing reels of the story.

It's a double program at the Alhambra today.

"Toby's Bow."
If you have ever wondered what life was like in little old Greenwich Village; if you are the mother of a temperamental daughter with aspirations for a "free" life; or if you are a girl fascinated by the glamor of Greenwich Village advertising methods, go to the happenings of the year in the screen world, and she has fully lived up to the elaborate things that were predicted for her by her admirers. "Such a Little Pirate" will be shown at the Alhambra theater soon.

"On the Quiet."
If you were an heir to twenty millions of dollars, which legacy would be lost to you if you married against the wishes of your family, would you take a long chance and marry "on the quiet"? This is the problem that Agnes Colt was called upon to solve in the new Paramount photocomedy, "On the Quiet," starring John Barrymore, the celebrated comedian, which will be displayed at the Auditorium theater Friday and Saturday.

It all happens thus: Agnes Colt is

TOM MOORE in "Toby's Bow"
GOLDWYN PICTURES

Alhambra theater Friday or Saturday to see "Toby's Bow." This Goldwyn picture from the stage play of the same name by John Tainter Foote stars Tom Moore and shows some of the artificial gaiety by which New York's Greenwich Villagers force gaiety into their lives. In truth, after paying $50 a month or more for the privilege of struggling along on the road to fame in an unheated back room, with nothing but hope to work on, reckless costume falls help to bring some lustre to the disillusionment that comes with understanding.

"Toby's Bow" reveals, however, how one writer broke away from the "Village's" worst influences and found his heir to twenty millions of dollars by her father, she receives that sum on condition that she marry some man who will be acceptable to her brother Horace, executor of the late Mr. Colt's will. Contrary to her brother's wishes or knowledge, she weds Robert Ridgway, a rather wild young man, "on the quiet." Ridgway returns to Yale, from which he had been previously expelled for improper conduct, with the understanding that if he completed his course without scandal, his marriage with Agnes might come to pass.

But a man of Ridgway's exuberant temperament, such a probation is torture, and when he kicks over the traces, one durned development after another, each more diverting than the other, follows. When Horace finds his sister on Ridgway's yacht, he believes the family name will be tarnished unless Ridgway, espousing Agnes and he demands that their wedding take place instantly. Ridgway agrees provided his bride enters into possession of her inheritance, and this is agreed to. So they are married a second time and all are happy. The supporting cast is an excellent one.

"Reuge and Riches."
Becky Butler of Virginia was tired of miserable poverty. To the amazement of the staid old Southern town in which she lived, she left for New York after publicly announcing that her aim in life was to marry a Broadway millionaire.

To some a chorus girl she believed, was the shortest, if not the straightest way to a millionaire's heart.

A week later found Becky in the arms of a chorus girl in a London musical show. Tom Rushmore, her dancing partner, won his way to the girl's heart, and she held him as a more nearly approaching thing than any sensation she had ever experienced.

He was poor, however, and her consuming ambition was money. Their friendship was interrupted when a Broadway millionaire with apparently boundless intentions met Becky and married her.

Tom, on the other hand, was not poor, but when he offered to establish her in a luxurious apartment, buy her clothes and pay for her love with money, she set out to do something wonderful for herself, but instead she got herself talked about on Broadway and exposed to the insults of her associates.

How did she extricate herself from a situation that branded her in the eyes of those who suspected her? For the answer go to the Auditorium Sunday where Mary McLaren, the University star, is playing in her latest photocomedy, "Reuge and Riches."

Quick action and real emotional appeal for the basis of Mabel Normand's newest Goldwyn production, "The Floor Below," to be shown Sunday at the Gem theater.

Miss Normand plays a copy girl in a busy newspaper office, getting into a scrape which causes her discharge—or is about to bring it about when she is saved. Patricia O'Rourke is given her first assignment with the promise that the job will wait for her if she is successful. A number of daring robberies have been committed by crooks who seem possessed of inside information concerning the rich homes they plunder. The police have a clue which causes them to watch the settlement house conducted by Hunter Mason, a young millionaire, as the source from which the plans come.

HER BOY HAD ALWAYS BEEN WEAK AND PUNY

Now he eats everything in sight and romps with playmates.

"My four year old boy had been weak and puny since birth, and had constipation and indigestion. Nothing did him any good until we tried Milk's Emulsion. Since using it, he has gained weight, is so fat and has outgrown his childhood trouble. He plays out with the children now, and he was never able to do that before."—Wm. Heart, 424 Bundy Ave., New Castle, Ind.

Milady's Boudoir

The Figure Counts.
Women who work out in the business world have better figures than those who stay at home. There is everything in one's attitude toward anything and, of course, with business women there is the pleasure of constant and large company and the delight of being among people, which makes them more alert and particular about their personal appearance.

For the woman at home who is ambitious to keep her figure, much is to be done by keeping active. When you drop something, don't ask someone else to come and pick it up. Arise quickly, stand firmly on both feet, heels together, and stoop over without bending the knees. Pick up the article and feel grateful that it has given you a chance to exercise. Dusting is one of the best exercises for the figure that a home woman can take. You can stoop over without bending the knees, reach up, and stretch, and exercise the arms and shoulders as well as the hips and limbs.

If you wish to limber up your muscles just walk quickly about the room and pick up scraps from the floor without pausing in your walk. You can cultivate agility of limbs by this little exercise. Every girl should be left to make her own bed and to clean up her own room if only for the exercise it will give her. Washing and hanging up clothes and ironing them is all fine exercise.

It is all a question of choice whether a woman groans and moans and worries herself until she has cultivated a disagreeable face and a slouching form from discontented resentment of her work, or if she forms well rounded with a symmetrical figure and a happy, contented face from the joy of finding opportunities for exercise while she is doing her household duties.

Our Boys and Girls

Children are much more susceptible to exposure than adults. Consequently they suffer oftener from chilblains. If a child has a bed or feeble circulation it should be kept out in the air, but it should also be especially well protected when it is out of doors. The natural heat of a part must be kept from passing off and so the body and feet should be kept dry and warm.

Soft woolen or part woolen under garments should be worn as they are an excellent non conductor and do more toward sustaining the calories of the body. Wool or thick cotton stockings, with outside leggings and rubbers or very heavy shoes, should be worn when the feet are exposed to the cold.

Stockings that have become too short or too tight from shrinking or being outgrown, should never be worn. Tight stockings or boots retard the circulation and so prevent the feet from keeping warm and causes them to be more susceptible to chilblains.

Parents should be extremely particular in the fitting of their children's shoes and careful of sufficient length is insured, and also that plenty of space is about the toes so that it will admit of full play and proper expansion.

Everyday Etiquette

"I was at a dance and a gentleman asked me to dance with him. I said I was tired and didn't want to dance but in a few minutes I felt rested and accepted a dance from another gentleman friend, was I wrong in doing so?" asked Kate.

"It is an accepted rule that if a woman refuses a dance with one young man she cannot accept later to dance with another young man. That is the same dance," replied her sister.

Technical Paper 257 "Waste and Correct Use of Natural Gas in the Home," by Samuel S. Wyer, just issued by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Washington, D.C., deals practically with the question of Gas Conservation, and from which we quote the following:

HOW TO GET COOKING BURNERS IN CORRECT POSITION

When purchasing a new stove, get either a manufactured gas stove or a natural gas stove with burners properly raised for short-flame service. The burner should be about 1 1/4 inches below the bottom of the cooking vessel.

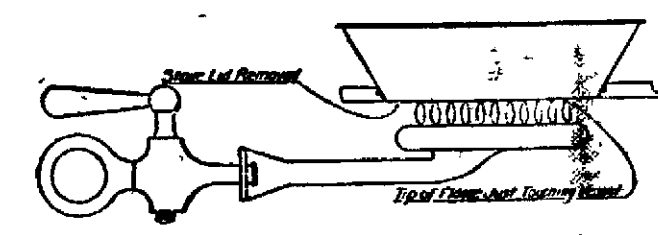

Old stoves worth remodeling may be changed by:

(a) Raising the manifold and burner supports so as to bring the burners to the proper height below the cooking vessel.

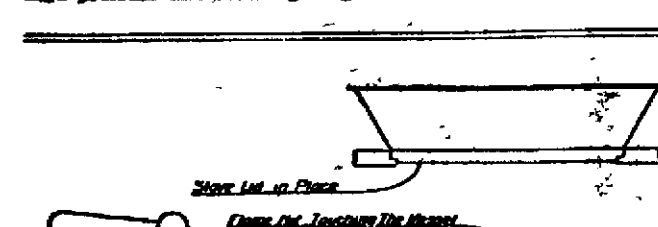

(b) In some stoves the manifold may be turned one-half way around so that valves that are at the bottom will then come on the top. By altering the burner supports, the burners can then usually be brought to the proper height. In some stoves where cocks are screwed into the manifold, turning the manifold one-quarter way around, removing the cocks, screwing a nipple and elbow into the upturned opening, placing the cock in the elbow and raising the burner supports, will usually bring the burners to the proper position.

(c) In some stoves it will be preferable to cement a new burner casting on top of existing low burners, so as to bring the burner top to the proper height.

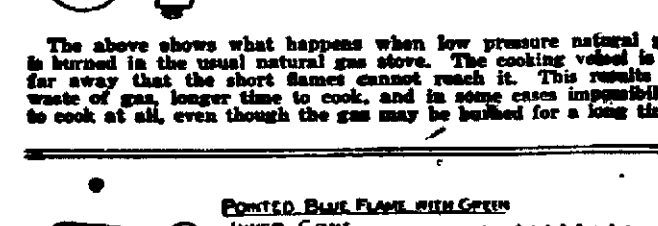

Closed tops should not be used, and in all stoves where the burners are raised, skeleton lids, grid, or open tops must be used with the short flames.

Merely lowering the cooking vessel or raising the burner, as shown above will result in satisfactory cooking. In the usual length of time with same low pressure, same stove and same burner. In fact, using properly directed short flames at low pressure will actually use less than one-half of the gas required with the usual high pressure and resulting long flames.

The above shows what happens when low pressure natural gas is burned in the usual natural gas stove. The cooking vessel is so far away that the short flames cannot reach it. This results in waste of gas, longer time to cook, and in some cases impossibility to cook at all, even though the gas may be burned for a long time.

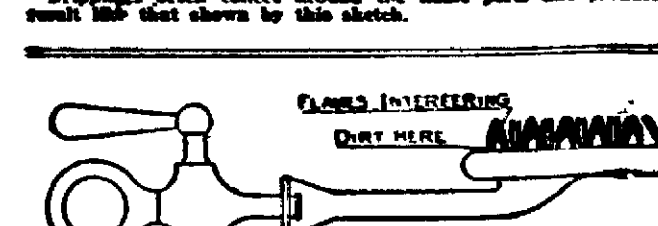

Pointed flame flame with green inner cone. Air ports free of dirt. Flame ports free of dirt.

If your burners are kept clean they will produce pointed blue flames having inner cones of green—the hottest, most efficient gas flame. The above drawing illustrates perfect combustion in a clean burner.

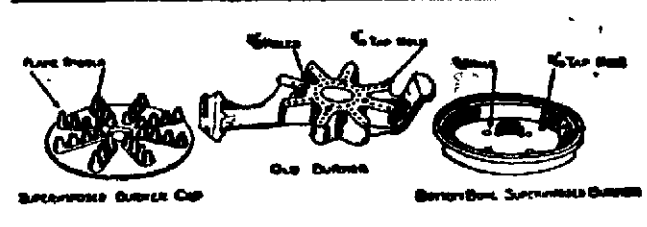

Dirt and lint in the air ports, as shown in this illustration, cause improper air and gas mixture and resulting yellow-tipped, sluggish flame. The burner collect around the flame ports and produce a result like that shown by this sketch.

Give your natural gas a chance. Keep air ports and flame ports free of dirt, lint or debris. Remove burners occasionally, hold them in water to which two tablespoons of washing soda have been added, and dry them before replacing.

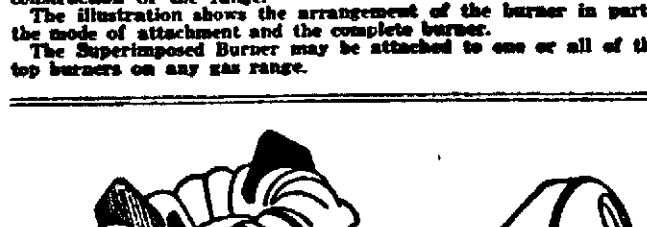

Buy no Ranges or Hot Plates in which the Burners are located more than 1 1/4 inches below top of skeleton lids, and buy no range with closed tops.

THE WITMAN SUPERIMPOSED GAS BURNER. To meet low gas pressure conditions and carry on cooking operations there has been developed the Witman Superimposed Gas Burner. This is a simple device that can be attached at small expense to any burner on any gas range now in use without disturbing the construction of the range.

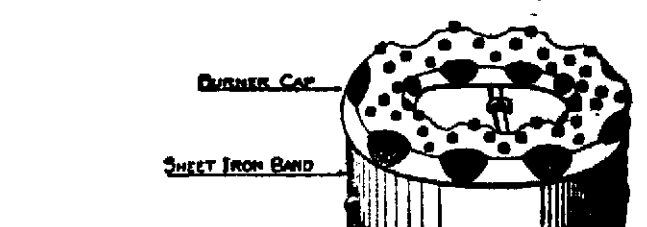

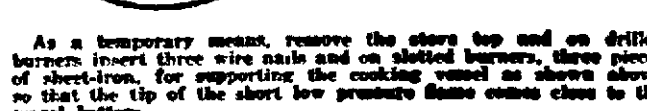

The illustration shows the arrangement of the burner in parts, the mode of attachment and the complete burner. The Superimposed Burner may be attached to one or all of the top burners on any gas range.

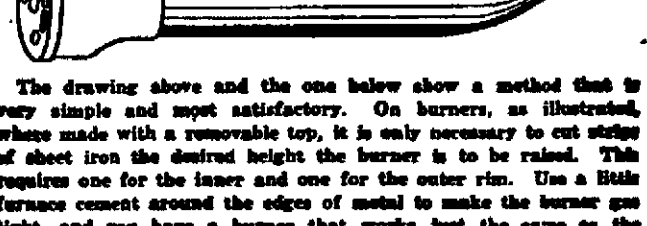

As a temporary means, remove the stove top and on drilled burners insert three wire nails and on sheet-iron burners, three pieces of sheet-iron, for supporting the cooking vessel as shown above, so that the tip of the short low pressure flame comes close to the vessel bottom.

Where we find a solid burner, as shown below, simply cut out a section of about one inch and then clip on the little bar-like arrangement shown in the upper illustration. This allows the gas to flow in through the regular mixer, up and around the curve of the box and on into the regular burner. The box can be made any height desired. We find that raising the burner to about one and a quarter inches below the top of the skeleton lid brings the tip of the flame up close enough to the pan or vessel to get good heating results.

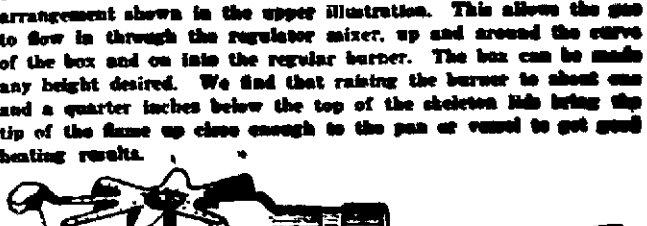

The drawing above and the one below show a method that is very simple and most satisfactory. On burners, as illustrated, where made with a removable top, it is only necessary to cut a slot of sheet iron the desired height the burner is to be raised. This requires one for the inner and one for the outer rim. Use a Hulse furnace cement around the edges of metal to make the burner gas tight, and you have a burner that works just the same as the original burner and brings the tip of the gas flame up close to the vessel.

Where we find a solid burner, as shown below, simply cut out a section of about one inch and then clip on the little bar-like arrangement shown in the upper illustration. This allows the gas to flow in through the regular mixer, up and around the curve of the box and on into the regular burner. The box can be made any height desired. We find that raising the burner to about one and a quarter inches below the top of the skeleton lid brings the tip of the flame up close enough to the pan or vessel to get good heating results.

Special Caution—After having adjusted your burners to the proper height never lower them again when gas pressure is higher. Control the flow of gas by the stop cock and thus maintain the same length of flame. By so doing you will obtain absolutely efficient results with a great saving in the consumption of gas, with a consequent saving in your gas bills.

Heating Economy Instructions—Just as soon as we can complete experiments and tests with new type low pressure gas heating appliances we will give our patrons full instructions and suggestions as to best means to secure the highest heating efficiency with greatly reduced consumption of gas and expense.

Wall Street.
 New York, Feb. 5.—A few high priced industrials particularly Crucible Steel, General Electric and Industrial Alcohol, were 1 to 2 points higher at the opening of today's stock market but in general the list continued to reflect depressing influence. Loss of 1 to 4 points were sustained by General Motors, American Woolen, American Locomotive, Studebaker, Royal Dutch, Tetrahite, Sumatra Tobacco and Columbia Graphophone. Early quotations for exchange especially the London rate, were a fraction under yesterday's final quotations, but above the low record.
 Stocks made material recoveries in the first hour with a few gains over yesterday's closing. This was balanced by renewed selling among specialties where lower records for the movement were made. Shippers manifested special weakness with coppers. A rally in principal exchange found some encouragement although offset by an opening rate of 17 percent for call money. The entire market developed fresh unsettlement at noon.
Chicago Grain Review.
 Chicago, Feb. 5.—Grain values dropped sharply today in a general rush to sell. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1.14 to 2.75c lower, with May $1.31 to 1.31 1/2 and July, $1.27 to 1.28 were followed by many nervous fluctuations but with only slight further downturns than were shown at the outset.
 Oats displayed weakness for the same reasons as corn. After opening half to 1.15c lower, including May at 78.34 and 1.15c, the market rallied a little but then sagged again.
 Unusual downturns in the value of hogs forced decided breaks in provision prices. In some cases pork fell 1.30 a barrel.

The dividend on Bankers' Shares payable March 1st to Stockholders of record, Feb. 15th will be 54 3-4 cents per share yielding 15% annually.

It is obvious that these shares are available now far below their intrinsic value. We believe the present market in Bankers is on the bottom and that now is an unusual opportunity for purchase.

Sometimes the "Little Fellow" that is, the man with only $100 or a little more saved up—thinks "investment" is not for him or that the big investment dealer does not "care to bother" with such a small amount.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

The possibility of investment begins with the man or woman who can save $10 a month.

As for "caring to bother"—a big part of Otis & Co.'s business is composed of "little fellows" who have found we DO "care to bother" with their business—and after trying it out for a while, they want to keep it up. Why? Because the "little fellow" needs, more than the big one, the protection afforded to his savings by the thorough and careful investigation the big investment house gives to every security before it is bought and offered to the public.

Another reason is—the "little fellow" knows, when he buys from the big, reliable house, that he is not buying a "fake."

There are many other reasons.

Whether you THINK you are an investor or not—come in and talk to us, and learn how we can be of service to you, and see for yourself how pleased we are to be of service to the "little fellow," or the big.

Trails of the Grizzly.
 The grizzly rarely hibernates, preferring to prow through the forests in the winter months. We is a meat eater, as well as being fond of honey, roots and eggs, and usually kills his own food. Two cubs come to the mother bear in her den among the rocks, and she is insanely courageous in defense of them.

City Lighting Modern.
 Lighting up a whole city at night is quite a modern invention, although illumination was used in some of the ancient cities. Paris and London dispute the priority in the matter of modern street lighting. London claims to have lighted its streets with lanterns as early as 1414, but this contention is disputed. During the sixteenth century lanterns for street lighting were provided at the public cost in Paris.

Chickens' Neglected Duty.
 Laura Jane was in the habit of going with her mother to feed the chickens. Sometimes she would find a pretty feather in the part. One day we went and she could not find a feather and she exclaimed: "Why, mother, the chickens did not lay me a feather today."

Oysters by Measure.
 Edward was asked to go to the store for oysters. He went and asked the man for two pounds of oysters. "We don't sell oysters by the pound, my boy, only by the measure," said the dealer. The boy thought a moment, then said: "Then let me have two yards."

MARTINEBURG.
The Baptist church was filled to capacity Monday evening to hear a Canadian soldier give experience. The young hero is a brother of Rev. Richmond of New Castle, who is pastor of the Baptist church here. In his detailed recital of his capture by the Germans, his experience in the trenches, his prison life of three years and seven months, and his plans and efforts to escape three times, his capture and court-martial, was a story that kept the closest attention of his audience for two hours. While being taken through the German lines, he said he saw the Canadian soldiers hanging crucified to barn doors, and saw Belgian children with their hands removed and had had knowledge of the outrages and brutality of the enemy.

Natural Inquiry.
Our little four-year-old girl went with me to feed the chickens. The food was quite hot and the chickens drew their bills out quickly. I said:
"They ought not put their noses in that hot food." "Have chickens got noses?" she asked. I told her they had, and her next inquiry was:
"Where do they carry their handkerchiefs?"—Exchange.

The Weakest Finger.
The finger on which the engagement and wedding rings are worn is naturally the weaker of the ten. Planists have to give the third finger twice as much drill as the other. The explanation is that the tendon of the extensor muscle of the third finger is attached by a cross-slip to that of the second.

Flying Money.
The oldest bank note in the Asiatic museum of Petrograd. It was issued 1300 B. C. According to Chinese chroniclers, bank notes were current in China 2000 B. C. under the name of "flying money." They were probably written.

EX-SERVICE MEN HEAR THE CALL OF THE OLD LIFE

Former Soldiers and Sailors Find Civil Life Too Tame. They Are Joining the Marine Corps. Combines the Desirable Features of Both Army and Navy.

If trouble starts over the border. If a Italian job wants a scrub. Should any one start a disorder. Where Uncle Sam's bossing the map. If bad little handits or pirates. Just upon pulling big scenes. Don't worry or fret or get in a sweat. Just call up and tell the Marines.

Just tell the Marines, just tell the Marines. They'll get on the job in their scrapping jeans. Ask 'em for trouble, and trouble you gets. For they've got sharp points on their bayonets. They land on their feet and they've got nine lives. And they pack a punch in their forties.

"Two battalions of Marines for immediate service in Haiti."

Not long ago that call went out from the U. S. Marine Recruiting Bureau. Within ten days those two battalions were recruited, equipped and ready to shove off. And every man in those outfits was a former soldier, sailor or Marine. They found civil life too tame. The "service" was in their blood, and they could not get it out.

Strange? Not a bit of it. Ask any one of "Jack" Pershing's gang. Ask any ex-man-o-war's man.

Oh, yes, we all growed at reveille and swore to murder the bugler. We all certificates which stamps the possessor as "inspected and passed as an honest, loyal and capable man, who has learned to use his head and his hands—and use them to the best advantage."

During the war with Germany all the additional officers needed for the Marine Corps were promoted from the ranks. These officers, by their efficiency and valor, have so amply demonstrated the wisdom of developing the officer material among the enlisted men, that the system has been adopted as a permanent feature of the service. Any man who has the makings of an officer in him stands an excellent chance of rising rapidly through the non-commissioned grades of corporal and sergeant and "graduating" into a second lieutenant. After that he has the same opportunity of attaining still higher rank as any graduate of the Naval Academy.

In addition, some Marines are selected each year to take the four-year course at Annapolis, upon completion of which they are immediately commissioned second lieutenants of Marines or ensigns in the Navy.

When we remember that there is one non-commissioned officer to every seven men no one who is of average ability and applies himself can expect to remain a private for very long.

The Marine at Work and Play

Many people have the idea that the service is a life of hard work, long hours and harsh discipline. Nothing was ever further from the truth.

There is work to be done in the Ma-

Bringing in Haitian Bad Men

"grouched" at the chow and whetted our bayonets for the cooks. Oh yes, full packs rubbed the skin off our shoulders. But—

Remember those days when we were fit as fiddles, could eat the hind leg off a table and enjoy it, could lick our weight in wildcats, and weren't afraid to say so? And remember the buddies who bunked with us, hiked with us, scrapped with us, took all our money, bummed our tobacco, called us bad names and—would give us the shirts off their backs if we asked 'em? Some how civil life doesn't often give us friends like that. The man who has never done a hitch in the service has missed a lot. Isn't that so?

And for any man who is looking for service—all sorts, kinds, conditions and varieties of service—the Marine Corps is the one best bet. The Marine is "soldier and sailor, too." When the big ships go to sea the Marines go with them. Before the Marine has a chance to get tired of sea going he is landed at Haiti or Honolulu, China or the Philippines.

Opportunity for travel and adventure is only one of the things that the Marine Corps affords. In this branch of the service a man finds unusual facilities for physical and mental development. The Marine Corps makes an ordinary man into real "husky."

And there are all manner of trades that may be learned in the corps. Every day ex-Marines are immediately upon discharge, stepping into well-paid civilian jobs that range from that of aviator to that of cook. And, as every one knows, an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps is the best letter of recommendation any one can have. It is, in fact, a United States Government rine Corps. But it is good, healthful, outdoor work. There are short, snappy drills that make a man alert and "on the job" in mind and body. There are setting up exercises that take inches off a man's waistline and put them on his chest. There's shooting on the rifle range—every Marine is trained to be a crack shot; there's work with wireless telegraphy and something of seamanship. It's work, but it's the sort of work men like.

There must be discipline, just as there must be laws in a community or rules in an office or factory. But the Marine discipline is of a sort that no reasonable man would object to. Life is not all work for the Marine. There are baseball, football, boxing and swimming for the devotees of these sports. No post is without its pool tables. There is fishing and hunting. For Marines, in their travels, so where game big and little. Is plentiful and game laws are few.

Men not on guard may, as a rule, leave their station after 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon and may remain away until reveille at 6 or 7 o'clock the following morning. Whenever a man may be conveniently spared, his commanding officer has authority to grant him a ten-day furlough, plus the time required to travel to and return from his home town.

The Marine Corps desires to give young men from all parts of the country an opportunity of enlisting in the service for two, three or four years. The local recruiting office has some vacancies in its quota for especially good men. It may be that you are the sort of man they are looking for. Don't hesitate to call and talk things over. It will put you under no obligation. You will not be urged to enlist. But you CAN learn the truth about the Marine Corps from men who know the life and like it well enough to stay in. Send for booklet.

Ask the Postmaster, Newark or write U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Office, North High St., Columbus, Ohio.

DON'T TREAT KIDNEYS
ROUGH, WARNS DR.
CAREY, SPECIALIST

Constant Flushing May Injure the Delicate Organism and Seldom Removes the Poisonous Deposits.

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he generously warns people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention. Backache, for instance, puffiness under or specks floating before the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals.

"Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey, "and I feel upon retiring that I should tell all who even suspect kidney or bladder trouble about my prescription, Marshroot, which, during my active practice, has caused thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments."

This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name Dr. Carey's Marshroot, a name that every sufferer from kidney troubles should remember. Evans' Cut Rate drug store can supply you.—Adv.
